A great deal is said about the duties of National, state and local health boards in regard to keeping out the cholera, but it should not be forgotten that every family and individual have also a duty to perform. Premises and person should be kept clean.

Sacramento Record-Union.—The threatened rise of the rose from poplars is already heard in Washington. Inside of six months it will be sounding up and down the length and breadth of the Union if Mr. Cleveland adheres to what appears to be his present resolution.

Courier-Journal.—Postmaster General Bissell is going to relieve Congressmen of some of their self-assumed duties in supplying the country with Postmasters. This ought to be a welcome relief to our Congressional statesmen. The abilities of many of them are sufficiently taxed in drawing their garden seeds, Patent Office reports and salaries.

Postmaster General Bissell has repeated the announcement that no one who held a Postoffice under President Cleveland's first Administration will be reappointed where there is another applicant for the office. The Postmaster General says that he and not the President is responsible for this rule, which applies to all classes of Postoffices and will be closely observed.

The Washington correspondent of The Courier-Journal says of all the Departments the Treasury seems to be the one closest to the hearts of the spoiling hound Democrats, if applications for position in that Department are any criterion, and it is the Treasury the Kentucky Democrats are after getting in. So far, "the boys in the trenches" have aimed for high game. There is an applicant from Kentucky for nearly every first and second class job in that Department.

The Mugwumps were immensely pleased when the President was reported to have barred editors from official appointments, and they quoted to his encouragement these words of Daniel Webster: "An open attempt to secure the aid and friendship of the public press by bestowing the emoluments of office on its active conductors, seems to me, of everything we have witnessed, to be the most reprehensible. It degrades both the Government and the press." Now that the President declares the report false and that he will make discrimination against editors, the Mugwumps are looking up authorities in favor of editorial appointments to office. The Mugs are bound to applaud Grover whatever he does.

Two Kings of England reigned longer than Queen Victoria has been on the throne—George I. who reigned from 1719 to 1760, fifty-nine years, and Henry III, whose reign lasted from 1216 to 1272, fifty-six years. Next to her came Edward III, whose reign of fifty years lasted from 1327 to 1377, and Elizabeth, who reigned forty-four years, between 1559 and 1603. James VI. of Scotland reigned fifty-eight years out of that kingdom, though he was King of England only twenty-two years; and William the Lion of Scotland reigned there for forty-nine years, from 1165 to 1214. Anarawd, Prince of Wales, ruled from 877 to 942, sixty-five years; and Griffith ap Cynan ruled from 1070 to 1136, a period of fifty-seven years. None of the Kings of Ireland reigned very long. The longest reign between the time of the "conquest" of Ireland in 1173 were those of Eochaidh-Gunnalt, who ruled from A. D. 218 to 253, forty years; and Malachy II (Mac Eacachin), who was King of Ireland from 968 to 1002, when he reigned in favor of Brian Boru, and on that hero's death became King for a second time, reigning from 1014 to 1089, his entire reign covering forty-one years.

A CITIZEN of Ohio county was tried at Hartford on an indictment charging him with having given another whiskey on an election day. This is a violation of the new election law, but the defendant pleaded ignorance to an extent. This, of course, was no valid reason for his not being fined, but the indictment was dismissed on a technical ground. This is probably the first case tried for violation of the new law.

While in New York recently Colonel Roopess had a chat with ex-Governor Jim Campbell, who declared that business and money-making, not politics, was the present programme, and nothing could induce him into another campaign—at least, just now.

NO DEMOCRATIC EDITOR NEED APPLY. The editor sat in his working chair. The paste in the bottle was dry. His fingers hung loose at the point of the wind. And a tear-droop stood in his eye.

A tear-drop of sorrow, and not remorse. Was the tear that moistened the lash. And the words that came to his willing lips Could only be said with a dash.

He chewed off the end of a steel pen point. His whiskers were blown off before. He reached for the ticket he loved so well. And mopped up the office floor.

The editor sat in his working chair. The light of his candle grew dim. The words was a dreary, desolate blank. The Postoffice was his for him.

And party effort and everything That make up an editor's vim. Went down to the chaos of hopelessness: The Postoffice wasn't for him.

SOUVENIR SPOON. A Remarkable and Fitting Tribute to America's Four Hundredth Anniversary. FROM THE HANDS OF SKILLED SILVERSMITHS.

The popularity of Souvenir Spoons is the appropriateness of the subject placed foremost among the souvenirs of this anniversary year. It is a fitting tribute and memorial to the memory of the bold navigator, America's discoverer, the name of whom all men honor for his gift to the world of the American continent. The likeness of Columbus is taken from the famous painting that was accepted as an authentic portrait by the Spanish government. The Spoon is a beautiful specimen of the designer's and engraver's art, unexcelled in style and finish by the most costly spoons. It is the purest grade sterling silver, upon a nickel silver base, and every one of our readers should have one or more for their personal use and for gifts to friends. It is a work of art and every lover of handsome silverware will find it a most desirable possession. It makes a particularly elegant gift, birthday present or souvenir of a visit.

In Design and Workmanship it is a Work of Art. A more beautiful spoon is very rarely seen, to say nothing of its added value as a souvenir of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus. It is one of the finest premiums which we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and we shall be pleased to see it largely chosen, knowing that all who receive it will be delighted. The quality is guaranteed. It is heavily plated with pure sterling silver and will wear well for years and give perfect satisfaction.

It is sent all charges paid, securely packed in a neat box.

SOLAR OR STANDARD? "The Frankfort Capitalist" Calls "The Tribune Ledger" in "Times."

The Capitalist's article opposing the changing of the Frankfort clock back to sun time is denounced by THE MAYSVILLE PUBLIC LEDGER as "demagogic clapnet." "Want a sweet and sunny temper the Editor of that paper must have that takes him miles out of his way to interfere in a purely local matter in which he can have no possible interest."

Now, dear Colonel, aren't you just a little bit previous? If you do you find that the charge "demagogic clapnet" was not applied to Frankfort, but that it was meant for our "house folks,"—for those great heads of the Mayville City Council who "set down" on the standard time ordinance because its advocates contended that the change would work injury to labor—just as though an hour of standard time was longer than an hour of solar time.

Oh, no; it is hard enough to wrestle with the demagogues at home, without going "miles out of the way" to hunt others. As for our sunny temper, "why, bless your soul, Colonel, it is so bright that there is no need for an electric lamp within three blocks of our office. Just come down and enjoy its effulgent rays; you'll feel as fresh as a kitten, and go home in as good humor as though you had the commission which we hope Uncle Grover has in store for you."

CONSTERNATION

Again Cast Into the Ranks of the Office-Seekers.

The President Will Not Regard the Recommendation of Senators

Of Congressmen Unless He Places Cleveland Before the Motives Which Actuate Him in Choosing or Selecting Men in Personal.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—President Cleveland has again cast consternation into the ranks of the office-seekers. He has announced that he does not propose to follow the recommendations of men in congress in the selection of officers who serve the interests of an entire state or district who represent this country abroad. For instance, he will not permit one or two senators to dictate the appointment of a district attorney, a marshal, a consul or a minister. Mr. Cleveland believes that the motives which actuate the men in congress in selecting men for these positions are almost wholly personal and political. He wants business reasons and the public interests to outweigh political or personal considerations.

The president has determined that the public service shall be maintained, if possible. In selecting consuls, commercial agents and representatives abroad he wants men who know something about commercial affairs, and who will enlarge our markets. In choosing diplomatic officers he wants men who know something of diplomacy and law and not mere political rounders. With these objects in view the president announces that while he solicits the endorsement of men in congress and desires the information they have at hand relating to applicants, he will not permit them to control the appointments. He believes that too much politics and too many personal considerations have intervened in making nominations for district attorneys and marshals, and, as a consequence, the public laws have not been properly enforced. He wants fearless, upright, incorruptible men, as well as men who know their duties and are capable of performing them.

This announcement has created some excitement in office-seeking circles, and it is believed that it will make trouble in the senate when it comes to action upon nominations. It is stated that the president has already indicated that he will disregard the recommendations of the senators from Missouri in the nomination of a prominent office-seeker. The senators threaten to defeat confirmation. Thus day by day there are developments which make it probable that trouble of a lasting if not serious character will surely arise between the president and his party representatives in the senate.

A Shrewd Yankee Wraps Up His Bootle in Canadian Hair Cloth

MONTREAL, March 30.—A smart United States speculator has just played a happy trick on the Canadian hair cloth market in half cloth. He came over to St. Catharines, Ont., and purchased the stock and output for some weeks to come of the only mill in the dominion engaged in the manufacture of hair cloth. He then bought up all the hair cloth in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal, some of the dealers selling in excess of their stock for future delivery. When these dealers placed their orders with the mill they were informed that the output was sold and the price had gone up twenty-five per cent., so they had to settle with the speculator at the difference.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT

To Rescue a Prisoner in Tennessee—The Officer and the Assistant

JELICO, Tenn., March 30.—John Burnett, sheriff of Campbell county, Tenn., was shot and instantly killed Saturday morning about five miles from this place while on the out-going passenger train. John Dall, a deputy sheriff who was with him, was also shot and may die. Dall arrested a man named White here Friday. Jerry and John Smith, notorious characters, and friends of White, dashed the train, determined to rescue him from Dall and Burnett. In the right one of the desperados was also killed.

Michael's Backer Dead.

NEW ORLEANS, March 30.—Squire Abington, the famous English sport, died Saturday morning of pneumonia at the St. Charles hotel. "Squire Abington" was a name assumed by the dead man in England to hide his identity. He was of a noble family and in private life was George Baird. This was Baird's first trip to America. He wanted to see the states but never had a good opportunity until he came over with Charley Mitchell to back him against Corbett. He not only put up Mitchell's $10,000 stake, but paid all his expenses and paid him $150 a day.

He Strangled Himself.

AKRON, O., March 30.—James Bakons, a bachelor aged 48 years, suicided Saturday morning by hanging. He tied a rope to the headboard of a bed, probably three feet high, laid flat on the floor face down, put his head through the noose, and pushed down until strangled. When found he was not over six inches from the floor. He has been despondent for several months, and had a mania that the officers were after him.

SERIOUS TROUBLE

Between Minister Stevens and a Son of the British Minister at Honolulu.

NEW YORK, March 30.—An American resident of Honolulu who is temporarily in town revealed Sunday the story of a social sensation that just occurred there.

According to his statement United States Minister Stevens referred to the wife of Jake Jay Woodhouse, the son of the British minister at Honolulu, as a half caste. The Woodhouses belong to an aristocratic family, and are of their good name, so when Minister Stevens spoke and wrote of Mrs. Woodhouse as a half caste, his husband was very indignant. He immediately wrote to the United States diplomat demanding an explanation. His letter was published, and, as a result, society in Honolulu was all a-gog. Talk of a "half caste" in social circles. Minister Stevens coolly replied: "What ever communications I have made to my government in relation to the status of individuals in Honolulu, were confidential, and intended to serve only American interest, for which I am responsible only to my government. If I have used in writing the term 'half caste,' I have only adopted language in common use, not thinking or designing in the remotest degree to disparage myself or your wife."

The minister further explained that he had written to his government, and his communications had referred to Mrs. Woodhouse as a "half caste" and he was perfectly willing to take the consequences of his act.

The young lady referred to is called the half sister of Princess Kalanial, the daughter of A. S. Cleghorn.

"My wife," said young Woodhouse, "is the issue of a previous marriage of Mr. Cleghorn, and has no claims upon the throne by right of inheritance or influence."

IS IT CONSTITUTIONAL?

The Chinese Register Act to Be Tested by California Citizens.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The dispatch from San Francisco Saturday announcing the intention of the Chinese six companies to test in the courts the constitutionality of the Garry act requiring all Chinese to register, was confirmed by inquiry here. Plans have been made to make the test a thorough one, the six companies having engaged Jas. C. Carter, Joseph H. Choate and Maxwell Evans as counsel.

J. Hubley Ashton, of Washington, to join with the regular attorneys of the companies in this connection. Circulars have been sent out requesting Chinese not to register on the ground that the law is not constitutional and can not be enforced. The plans for the companies are to have the Chinese arrested, and when the immediate deportation of the offender against the law shall have been ordered by the court, a writ of habeas corpus will be obtained and the case carried to the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Choate said that he did not see how the constitutionality of a law to label men like sheep could be maintained in this country and the attack upon it is unconstitutional must prove effective. He said he had not considered the point made by the six companies that the law was in violation of treaty rights. While possibly it might involve an infringement of the treaty stipulations of 1852, the reliance of the opponents of the law rested on much broader grounds.

Spanish Models for the Fair.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Spanish exhibit to the World's fair arrived here Sunday and will be shipped to Chicago in a few days. The reproduction of the bridge over the Guadalupe at Cordova, with 110 arches and towers, is packed in six large cases. There are also a model of the fortress of Montjuich, at Barcelona, a model of the statue of Columbus, models of the fortress of Coruna; San Fernando and Puerto Tiers, at Cadiz, and of a Moorish castle. All the models are the work of royal engineers.

A Portion of the Relief.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Truxtun Beale, U. S. minister to Greece, Roumania and Serbia, has informed the state department that Mrs. Schliemann, widow of Dr. Schliemann, the famous explorer of the ruins of buried and ancient cities, has determined to present to the United States national museum a portion of the relics unearthed at Troy by her late husband.

Mr. Beale gives no intimation of the size of the collection to be sent to Washington, but says its value will be appraised on inspection.

Mother and Child Burned.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 30.—Mrs. Samuel Modulus and her 5-year-old daughter are now lying in a critical condition at the family home near the Union Line shop from the effects of a fire. The child was playing near gasolene stoves when a gasolene light lighted. The mother rushed to the child's assistance and after heroic efforts succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Both mother and child were horrible burned.

Destructive Prairie Fires.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 30.—Great damage has been done in this section by prairie fires which have been raging for the past two days. In Cleveland and Payne counties, several head of horses, many hams and tons of hay were destroyed. A large area was swept clean and a little girl was fatally burned. A negro settlement set of here suffered terribly, many cabins being burned.
